

Huddle UP!

Why a "huddle"?

Why do the Vikings and Packers huddle between every down? To communicate the intended information, call the next play, decide the snap count, and to generally organize themselves before the next snap. What if Favre never called a huddle? The Vikings chances of success would definitely be worse than they currently are if that's possible.... The parallels between running an offense and running a crew are obvious. The foreman is the quarterback, your team is the crew. Success starts in the huddle.

How does the Daily Huddle help you and your crew?

"It gives us an opportunity to discuss any questions or concerns the crew or myself may have and to remind each other how important safety is."
